Case of Allyn vs. Miner, Exr., Occupied All Day Thursday and Goes Over Until Tuesday.

At the opening of the civil superior court on Thursday morning the case of Mrs. Mary Allyn vs. Alton Miner, executor of the will of G. W. Comstock of New Londen, was continued. Mrs. Allyn was further cross-examined at some length, and was followed by Mary Butler, who testified regarding Mr. Comstock, his home and the work done there. C. B. Graves also gave testimony in the case, and was followed by C. W. Horton, a water inspector, who was at the Comstock house regularly in the line of his duty. Mr. Comstock was a gruff man. The trouble with Mr. Comstock's foot caused a disagreeable odor. Mr. Comstock told him he intended leaving his home and money to Mrs. Allyn, as it was she who kept him from the almshouse. He said Mr. Comstock swore so at people that no one would take care of him but Mrs. Allyn.

Beginning from Forest street, the fiagging of the walk has been taken up in front of the three buildings east of that street which belonged to the Plaut estate, but were recently purchased by Joseph Swartzburg, Jr. The city made an agreement with the Plaut estate regarding the changing of the walk there and a new walk is to be put down in front of those premises under the agreement. This will leave two properties in front of which the street is not widened, but Street Commissioner Fellows stated on Thursday evening that he hoped to make arrangements with them whereby the work can be put through for that entire section of West Main street this year. the street.

Rev. Hugh Treanor Has Been Rector of St. Patrick's Church a Dozen Years.

Just a dozen years ago today Rev. Hugh Treanor came here to assume charge as rector of St. Patrick's church. By a coincidence it happens that this anniversary occurs on the same day of the week as when he took charge, after coming from the Sacred Heart parish in Waterbury.

In the twelve years of his rectorship here, St. Patrick's parish has been led into an extremely flourishing and prosperous condition under his wise guidance and conspicuous executive ability. The parish has grown steadily in this time and was never in a ity in this time and was never in a mere prosperous condition than at

Rev. Father Treanor came here from Mrs. Jane Burgoyne.

The death of Mrs. Jane Burgoyne of 130 Washington street occurred from pneumonia at 5 o'clock. Thursday morning at the Sheltering Arms, after a very brief librass. She was born in Glasgow. Scotland, 85 years ago, and went to Holyoke, Mass., where she was married and later moved to Norwich, where she had resided for the past 55 years.

Rev. Father Treanor came here from Waterbury, where he was rector of the Sacred Heart parish for several years. His first station was as assistant at St. Mary's church. Norwalk, to which he went on January 1, 1879, going from there to Waterbury. He was ordanied December 21, 1878, read hig first low mass at St. Peter's church, Beltimore, and celebrated high mass for the first time at St. Peter's church, Hartford, on Christmas day, 1878.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kies have returned from attending the convention of the Royal Arch Masons in Savan-nah. G. L. Hewitt and the Misses Le-fevre and Ward have also returned from the southern convention.

Gum Famine Threatened.

The report is going the rounds the press that a failure of the supp of raw material from which chewin of raw material from which chewing gum is made is threatened. Visions of high prices for the sweetened slabs of solace flit across the brains of millions of chewing gum victims, slaves to the mastricatory habit. The thought of a chewing gum famine is appalling. A total failure of the peanut crop could be contemplated with even greater equanimity. It is impossible to convelce the mental and moral results of a cutting off of the supply of gum.

Yet there are some people who would welcome such a calamity. There are those who cannot sympathize with the prospective sorrows of the gum chewers menaced with this great deprivation. They would even rejoice in the suspension of vibratory jaws from their ceaseless Fletcherizing. For the chewing of gum, however delectable to those addicted to it, is an annoyance to some others. It thres them to see the restless sweep of the maxiliary processes. The spectable of a cow chewing her cad in the shade of a tree by a softly murmuring brook is peace-

Basketball Practice at Parish Hallew Discovery Has Revolutionized the Treatment of Skin Diseases.

Nothing in the history of medicine has ever approached the success of the marvelons skin remedy known as poslam, which, it is safe to say, has cired more cases of eczema and skin diseases than any remedy ever offered Paul Prive of South A street has
